5. Electronic Databases

Dissertation Abstracts International - Citations and abstracts to more than 2 million dissertations and masters theses in all fields produced in North American colleges and universities from 1861 to the present, and from around the world since 1988.

Education Abstracts - Provides indexing (1983-present), abstracting (1994-present), and the full text (1995-present for select titles) of journal and magazine articles. Although the main focus of the database is education, subject coverage includes educational and instructional psychology, counseling, and developmental psychology with an emphasis on children and adolescents.

ERIC (Educational Resource Information Center) - The database consists of the Resources in Education (RIE) file of document citations and the Current Index to Journals on Education (CIJE) file of journal article citation from over 750 professional journals. Sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education, ERIC is a network of 16 Clearinghouses, each specializing in a separate subject area.

JSTOR - JSTOR archives include scholarship published in over one thousand of the highest-quality academic journals across the humanities, social sciences, and sciences, as well as monographs and other materials valuable for academic work.

Lexis/Nexis Academic Universe - Provides full text access to newspapers and other news sources.

MEDLINE - Provides indexing and some abstracting of journal articles and other publications within all areas of biomedicine, including the neurosciences, psychopharmacology, psychiatric and physiological intervention, and public health care and social support programs.

PsycINFO - Provides access to international literature in psychology and related discipline. PsycINFO is the most authoritative and unrivaled access to psychological research and information. The database is extremely interdisciplinary covering a cast array of disciplines such as psychiatry, education, business, medicine, nursing, pharmacology, law, linguistics, and social work.

Sociological Abstracts - Provides indexing and abstracting of journals, annual reviews, and research papers within the field of sociology and related disciplines. Although the main focus of the database is sociology, subject coverage includes areas relevant to the field of social psychology, such as the sociology of organizations, social group interaction, family relations, and conflict.
